The Wayback Machine-https://web.archive.org/web/20060926002155/http://tmb.elitedvb.net: 80/dvd-game/index.php/HLCommands the Wayback Machine-https://web.archive.org/web/20060926002155/http://tmb.elitedvb.net: 80/dvd-game/index.php/HLCommands the Wayback Machine-https://web.archive.org/web/20060926002155/http://tmb.elitedvb.net: 80/dvd-game/index.php/HLCommands the Wayback Machine-https://web.archive.org/web/20060926002155/http://tmb.elitedvb.net: 80/dvd-game/index.php/HLCommands the Wayback Machine-https://web/archive.org/web/20060926002155/http://tmb.elitedvb.net: 80/dvd-game/index.php/HLCommands the Wayback Machine-https://web/archive.org/web/20060926002155/http://tmb.elitedvb.net: 80/dvd-game/index.php/HLCommands the Wayback Machine-https://web/archive.org/web/20060926002155/http://tmb.elitedvb.net: 80/dvd-game/index.php/HLCommands the Wayback Machine-https://web/archive.org/w

HLCommands

From Dvd-game

High-Level commands are used internally in the firmware. They are usually submitted from the main thread, and are processed in the backend thread.

bytes Desc

- 01 magic low level stuff
- 02 start disc login process
- 03 stop disc
- 04 check DMI
- 10 seek
- 11 read
- 12 audio config

Retrieved from "http://tmb.elitedvb.net/dvd-game/index.php/HLCommands"

• This page was last modified 17:52, 10 August 2005.